To whom it may concern

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing this letter in reference to Ocetalo. I have been working with him since late October when he first contacted us, offering to translate environmental education articles from Green Teacher magazine into Spanish. Since then, he has already translated three articles that we have now posted to our Green Teacher en español website, where they can be freely downloaded by anyone in the world.

It has been a pleasure to work with Ocetalo for the past six months and we are looking forward to continuing to work with him. He is always cheerful and enthusiastic, and as such, it has been fun to work with him. He has also done a fine job of translating three articles for us. We greatly appreciate his assistance with these translations, and were impressed that he was able to complete each of them in a timely manner, whilst working full-time and volunteering with other organizations around the world. In as sense, he is a true internationalist, and we are fortunate to have had this opportunity to get to know him over the last half of a year.

Please accept this as a letter of reference for him. Don't hesitate to contact me if I may be of further assistance as a reference for Ocetalo.

All the best,
